

STREET FAIR NETS $16,554.51 RED CROSS RECEIVES $13,000, NAVY LEAGUE'S SHARE $3,000

After All is Distributed Committee Has Nucleus Fund of Over $500.00.

GROSS RECEIPTS $20,658

Report Made Public Today Places Expenses of Holding Rb Event in September at $4,104.26; Navy League Originated Scheme for the Fair.

A final report on the Red Cross street fair, made last night by the auditing committee at a meeting of Red Cross and Navy League representatives, showed that $16,554.51 was cleared in the three days. The auditors report total receipts of $20,658.77, with expenses amounting to $4,104.26. Final division of the amount raised was made last night.

Although it is not generally known, the idea of a street fair originated with the Navy League. The organization was in debt for yarn that had been purchased and needed funds to carry on its work. It was proposed that the Red Cross and Navy League combine in the fair and that the proceeds be equally divided. At that time, however, it was expected that not more than $5,000 would be raised, half of which would lift the debt of the Navy League and leave a working margin.

At the meeting last night the Navy League representatives did not demand the original division of halves, but only took $3,000 for its work. The Connellsville branch of the Red Cross took $13,000 and the remaining $5,654.51 will remain in the hands of the auditing committee as a nucleus of a fund with which to open any future affairs at the kind.

McADOO QUITS THE CABINET; IS FOURTH IN PAST SIX YEARS

Wants to Retire to Private Life, Secretary of Treasury Says; Leaves Railroads Also.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23.—William J. McAdoo, secretary of the treasury, declared general of railroads, and often discussed as one of the presidential possibilities of 1920, has resigned his offices to return to private business.

President Wilson has accepted his resignation. Mr. McAdoo will give up the treasury portfolio as soon as a successor has been selected. He wished to lay down his work as director general of railroads by January 1, but will remain if the President has not then chosen a successor.

Upon the new secretary of the treasury, whoever he may be, will fall the task of financing the nation through the transition period of war to peace which probably will include at least two more Liberty loans and possibly also a further revision of the system of war taxation.

By the resignation, President Wilson for the fourth time in nearly six years of his term of office, is faced with the necessity of filling a vacancy in his cabinet. The resignation of Mr. McAdoo took official Washington so completely by surprise that even today there was little speculation as to his successor or successors. It is not known whether the President will fill separately the offices of secretary of the treasury and director of railroads.

Tonight Mr. McAdoo plans to leave for an inspection trip of southern railroads arranged more than a week ago. He will be in Atlanta tomorrow and later will go through Florida and to New Orleans, returning to Washington before President Wilson sails for Europe.

RALPH SLIGER HAS CLOSE CALL AS A REGIMENT RUNNER

Former Courier Boy With 319th Is Twice Lost Delivering Messages.

ONCE LISTED AS MISSING

Gets a Sample of Germans' Mustard Gas and is Compelled to Dodge Barrage But Comes Through All Right; Finally Lands in a Best Camp.

At last accounts from the scene of action Ralph F. Sliger, former in-trope operator at The Courier plant, was engaged as a runner for the 319th infantry, according to a letter to his wife, dated October 12. The letter was written after the regiment was sent back of the lines for a rest. The 80th division had been in action for nearly a month prior to that time and it is probable the command was not again at the front before the cessation of hostilities. According to dispatches this week it has been sent to a rest area. The letter follows:

"Dear Little Wife:
"I guess you are wondering what has become of me again but I am still in the land of the living. We have been in battle almost continuously since September 25 and I just came out of the line last night. You have seen in the papers where we have been fighting and what we have been doing.

"We begin with I will tell you what my duties are. I am a regimental runner and it is some job, believe me. The first part of the battle our company was about half a day late getting into the fight so I did not act that time as a runner but was right up on the line with the rest of the boys and our regiment surely did good work.

"Well, we came out of the battle and thought we were going out for a good night's sleep but we were shot right back into another part of the same battle and we also did good work over there. I was sent over to regimental headquarters this time as a regimental runner from the second battalion. Part of my equipment was lost on the other drive and I lost all the rest of my stuff this time before I reached regimental headquarters. So I had no blankets or any covers at all and I surely had some experience. I will try and tell you some of them.

"Being a regimental runner is was my duty to carry messages from regimental headquarters to battalion headquarters or any other place. I was asked to go to go. We moved out about five miles and established our headquarters. About 2 o'clock the same day I was sent back to the place from which we started to deliver a message and guide our kitchen up to where we were. If they had left me go back the same way I came I would have been all right but the captain in charge of the runners asked me to go another way, so there my troubles started.

"Our kitchen was located in one valley and I got headed up another valley. I should have found the place in an hour but after four

In addition General Pershing indicated that the following general classes of troops will be returned: Railroad artillery troops, army artillery troops, gas troops, tank corps, air forces and those divisions which had been active service.

Troops returning immediately from England, General March said, will include practically all of the air squadron, 16 construction companies, one sailmaker's detachment, one Handy-Page training station and several photographic and radio sections. Orders for the return of these already have been issued.

Total casualties in the American expeditionary forces up to the signing of the armistice were divided as follows: Killed and died of wounds, 36,154; died of disease, 13,811; died from other causes, 2,204; wounded, 179,635; prisoners, 2,163; missing, 1,160.

TWICE PRONOUNCED DEAD, LIEUT. WRIGHT RECOVERS; IS READY TO FIGHT AGAIN

Shot through the lung by a machine gun bullet, left alone for 14 hours where he fell in going over the top and twice subsequently pronounced dead and wrapped up to be carried out for burial and yet to come through it all alive was the experience of Lieutenant John E. Wright of the trench mortar battery service, who is now home recuperating. Although weak, Lieutenant Wright is well on the way to complete recovery.

This week the young officer, whose home is near Pittstown, in Bullskin township, visited the Connellsville high school, of which he is a graduate, and had a chat with members of the faculty. He is now at Elkhart, Ind., visiting his brother, Homer C. Wright, a former ward principal in this city, and at the end of his visit, will report at a New Jersey hospital. As was told in The Courier several weeks ago Lieutenant Wright was wounded on July 14. It was at mid-

LIEUT. ROBINSON MADE COMMANDER OF COMPANY D

Uniontown Officer's Promotion Comes For Distinguished Heroism.

COMMAND IN REST CAMP

Connellsville Boys Will Be Among the First Sent Home is Relief of Lieutenant Colonel Martin Who Has Arrived from the Lines in France.

Hostilities ended so far as Germany and her allies are concerned, the 110th infantry and the remainder of the "Iron Division" are now billeted back of the former battle line awaiting developments. Connellsville's command, Company D, has a new leader, Captain John L. Robinson, until recently first lieutenant, according to Lieutenant Colonel Edgar Martin of Uniontown, who arrived home yesterday from overseas.

At the time of the departure of Colonel Martin from the front Captain Robinson was still in a bad hospital suffering from a wound in the hip which had affected a nerve and because of which he was to be sent home. Information some time ago said, Robinson's promotion came as a reward for distinguished gallantry, Colonel Martin said.

Asked regarding citations of other members of the company, all of whom were recruited in Fayette county, Lieutenant Colonel Martin asserted that so many of the boys in the regiment distinguished themselves it was difficult to recall off-hand the names of Fayette county men cited for bravery. The company, the regiment and the division, the officer declared, was a "wonderful outfit." "There is not a finer outfit in the entire army" was his commander's characterization of the 110th.

Although there is no definite information on the subject, Lieutenant Colonel Martin declared that he was of the opinion that the 30th division would be one of the first sent to be returned to America when the home-ward march was commenced. The entire division, he declared, had been sent to a rest camp for its first relaxation since the American army first made its strength felt at Chateau-Thierry and because of the heavy and exacting service it had been called upon to perform, he did not believe the division would be called upon for any after-war work in occupied territory.

The 110th saw its first active service at Chateau-Thierry last July, Lieutenant Colonel Martin declared. From that day until the end of the war, he declared, it and the 25th division saw virtually no rest. Its action always under the heaviest fire, won for the division throughout the expeditionary force the characterization of "The Iron Division." After it had proved its mettle, the division saw continuous service, he declared. Among other big fights in which it participated was the Vesle and the final battle of the Argonne which ended the war. Wherever the 110th went, Lieutenant Colonel Martin declared, glory surely followed. It was irresistible and "one good outfit" he declared.

Regarding himself, Lieutenant Colonel Martin would say nothing, but it is known that he was gassed several times while leading the regiment in some of its most brilliant advances. He was fully recovered his robust health and was returned home on special duty. He led the regiment at Chateau-Thierry and at St. Mihiel.

For Carcasses of Horses in Street of Petrograd, Escaped Man Says.

LONDON, Nov. 23.—Dogs and men are battling in Petrograd for the flesh of horses which drop dead in the streets, according to a British business man who has just arrived in London.

AUTO THIEVES TRADE $800 SAXON FOR CHEVROLET AND SELL THE LATTER FOR $50

Charged with stealing an automobile belonging to E. R. Pierce of South Connellsville and trading it to a man in Parr for his car, and in turn selling the traded machine for $50, Harry Coughenour and Frank Tober, local young men, were committed to jail last night by Alderman W. D. Colborn in default of $500 bail.

The men were arrested on information of Pierce. His machine, a Saxon Six, was stolen from West Apple street two weeks ago. He finally located it in Parr in the possession of George Bashul. Investigation developed that Coughenour and Tober had traded it to Bashul for his Chevrolet, but as for the mysterious disappearance of the machine, Bashul was discharged, he proving that he had nothing to do with the theft.

Pierce claimed his Saxon which Bashul returned to him, and in turn Bashul claimed his Chevrolet. Daniels told him where he could get the car. The junk dealer, however, is "out" to the amount of $50.

DISSOLUTION OF THE FORMER GERMAN EMPIRE MAY RESULT FROM CHAOTIC CONDITIONS

BRITISH HELD BY GERMANS IN PITITABLE STATE

By Associated Press.

LONDON, Nov. 23.—Pitiable conditions among British prisoners of war who have been liberated by the Germans since the signing of the armistice are described by Reuters' correspondent at French headquarters. Thousands of these men, mostly British, are entering the lines daily, the correspondent writes.

"I have never seen human beings in such a state of raggedness, hunger and misery. When the camp at Forbach, 30 miles east of Metz as well as those elsewhere were broken up, the prisoners, most of whom were captured during the March offensive, were told to clear out and seek help from their Allies. They started to walk the 50 or 60 miles to the Allied lines but were given no food and had no money. They were in shanties, the soles dropping off their boots. Some wore clogs and no socks.

"They left the prison camps in droves of hundreds in charge of German officers and soldiers, who had deserted. The weather was very cold and many died by the roadside within a few miles from France. French soldiers who were hardened war heroes were sorrowful to see men in such plight. It is not doubted that this suffering was intentionally imposed upon the British. Prisoners of other nationalities are agreed that the British were treated worse than the others in all German hands."

SPANISH INFLUENZA DIAGNOSED BY ARMY AS "BLACK PLAGUE"

Disease That Has Swept Country Is More Than Old Time Grip.

That Spanish influenza which has swept the country, claiming thousands of lives, is "black fever" or "black plague" was the statement accredited to Dr. H. B. Guher of the medical staff at Camp Dix on a visit to his home at Smithfield this week.

The disease has been so diagnosed by the medical staff at Camp Dix, the doctor stated.

Connellsville undertakers and physicians long ago knew that it was a disease of this description that was causing the heavy mortality here. The disease is characterized by the lungs turning black, it is stated.

Hugh Dunaway, about 38 years old, of Dunbar, was badly burned about the eyes, face, chest and right hand yesterday afternoon when dynamite exploded in the Prospect mine. He is married and has a large family of children. The injured man was removed to the Cottage State hospital following the accident.

Returning to this city the young men sold the Chevrolet car to Abe Daniels, a junk dealer, for $50. Daniels said he bought the car for his junk value, but a West Side garage man told him it could be repaired. At the housing Bashul was discharged, he proving that he had nothing to do with the theft.

Sharp Divergence of Opinion As to Make Up of New Country.

SOUTH MAY BREAK AWAY

By Associated Press.

LONDON, Nov. 23.—The chaotic political conditions in Germany are emphasized in reports received here from Amsterdam and Copenhagen purporting to reproduce direct telegrams from Germany. There is a sharp divergence of opinion in regard to the make-up of the new Germany.

There is a general lack of harmony in different parts of the country and a tendency towards separatism. Bolshevik ideas are declared to be growing in the west, where a Rhenish republic is said to be planned.

GERMAN SOLDIERS NOT NEAR STARVATION.

LONDON, Nov. 23.—(Reuters)—It is pointed out in connection with the appeal of Dr. W. F. Solt to the United States for food that there are two kinds of rationing in use in Germany. That for the soldiers in the first line has been much larger than that granted the rest of the nation. This ration is considerably more generous than that to which the British people have been accustomed during the last four years.

OLD UNIFORM MUST BE USED NEXT YEAR

None Made After Present Stocks of Goods Exhausted.

Further Restrictions Placed Upon Production of Athletic Supplies and Equipment—Tennis and Golf Are Hard Hit.

The war industries board has put further restrictions upon production of athletic supplies and equipment, and this fact, with added taxes coming, will make any sort of "tool" used in sport next year a precious possession. Not only have restrictions been placed upon the production of certain of the more common sport supplies but in some cases further manufacture is prohibited after the present stock of material in hand is exhausted.

The followers of the various branches of sport will note with interest that more leeway is allowed in the matter of the baseball and football outfit than in the case of tennis and golf. This is due not to discrimination but rather to the fact that greater quantities of rubber are used in the manufacture of the ball used in these games than in baseball and football. According to the latest ruling not more than 40 per cent of the tennis and golf equipment produced during the last four months of 1917 shall be manufactured during the final months of the present year.

In the uniforms department the regulations specify that no material will be available after the manufacturer has used the supplies now in stock. This will affect football and baseball to a far greater extent than will be the case among the golf and tennis players, for while special clothing is considered desirable among many of the devotees of the games, it is not absolutely necessary. Because of the greater personal contact in baseball and football, uniforms with special padding and armor are not a matter of personal choice, but rather essential as a protection against bodily injuries.

During the past year the price of new athletic equipment and repairs to old paraphernalia has mounted in keeping with all other commodities. The cost of all material and labor involved has increased as the player of any game realizes when he takes a tennis racket to be restrung, a golf club to be repaired or sport shoes to be resoled. Under the circumstances the outfitting of teams next season should be organized sport play be possible, will be an additional tax upon the management of such teams.

SIXTEEN CENTS TO SEE GAME

Big Cut Made in Admission Fee to Witness Baseball Contests in English Metropolis

Baseball is due for a cut in prices after the war is won. The world series pointed that out. Nevertheless they will have a long fall as they reach the level of the American league now operating in England. Advertisements in the London newspapers indicate that big league ball games may be witnessed for the trifling sum of eight pence, or 16 cents in United States money.

Sixteen cents would fetch about half a ticket to the big post season of a major league branch in this country.

PLAN TO ABANDON ATHLETICS

General Manager Piez Says Attention of Shipmen Will Be Given to Building Vessels.

Athletics in the shipyards of the country will be abandoned, according to Charles Piez, vice president and general manager of the Emergency Fleet corporation.

We are going to concentrate as much of our attention as we can on making ships after this, declared Mr.

Charles Piez

Piez. "The men have been diverted too much I am told, by labor leaders, and the men themselves complain that they are led to waste too much time in getting ready for athletic events and too much time to recovering from them."

"I always have favored athletics in modernism but the kind of professionalism we have had serves no useful purpose. It has become now only a question of who can pay the highest salaries to a few stars. I feel safe in saying that the same conditions will not exist next year."

WAR BROUGHT ABOUT ATHLETIC REFORMS

Decided Change for Better in Fight on Proselyting.

Some Sort of Intercollegiate Association With Authority to Enforce Rules Is Advocated—Meeting to Be Held Soon

Although some of the Eastern universities are slow getting into athletic action, the sentiment in favor of some means to consolidate athletic reforms brought about by the war is getting stronger every week.

There are a good many reforms now in effect on account of war conditions. They may be enumerated as follows: No training table abolition of long period of preliminary training for football reduction of coaching expenses, reduction of fees for football officials, holding regattas within term time. There has also been a decided change for the better in the fight against proselyting.

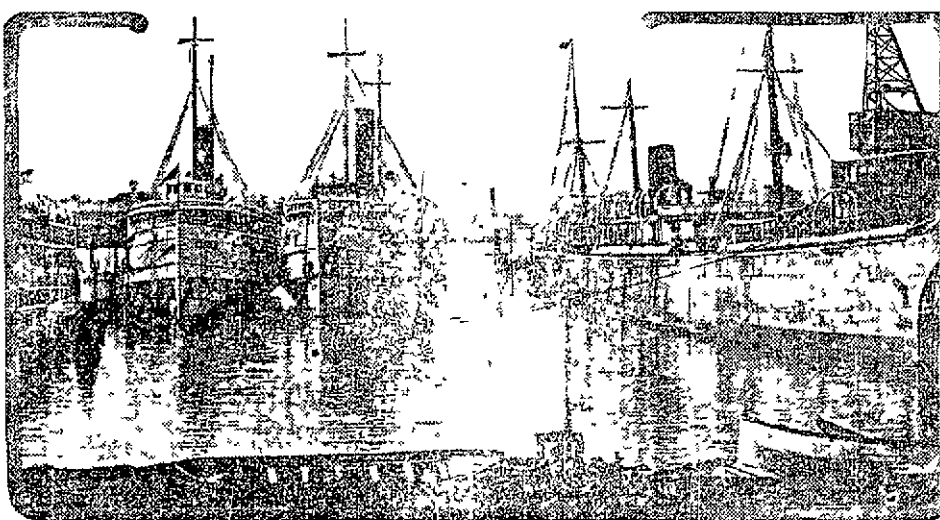

The problem which now confronts the college is to find some effective means to make these reforms permanent. There is only one way to do it, and that is by some sort of an association such as the National Collegiate Athletic association. This is a body composed of about 200 colleges and universities, the most important ones in the country. It is responsible for some desirable reforms which have been wrought in college sports within recent years but they have been wrought rather by suggestion than any other means.

The trouble with the N. C. A. A. is that it has no mandatory powers. It can agree upon uniform eligibility codes without number but it has absolutely no power to enforce them.

It has always seemed that in addition to the N. C. A. A. there should be a number of smaller associations divided into groups in which the members would be of the same size or approximately so and in which the conditions of competition would be even. It would be easy enough to organize one such group of some half dozen or more of the big Eastern universities, another of a group of slightly smaller universities with the minor colleges, similarly grouped. There are certain athletic reforms on which all could agree while the differences associations could still make such changes as would fit the particular needs of the different associations.

Haverford has won another intercollegiate soccer championship.

PASSENGER SHIP USED FOR TRAINING SAILORS

The country's adaptation of its resources to war uses is illustrated in the case of the four ships shown here. All were formerly passenger carriers, the three on the left in the coastwise trade and the one on the right in transatlantic service. They now belong to the United States shipping board's Atlantic training squadron and are used for training young mariners for service in the merchant marine.

Water Damage to Flour

It is a well known fact among sailors that flour will not only float but will suffer very little damage. To ascertain the actual damage, says the Northwestern Miller, a baker in New South Wales submerged a bag of flour in the ocean and left it in the water 37 hours. A 50-pound bag was necessary to sink a 150-pound bag which would have supported 75 pounds on top of the water. It is estimated, or half its own weight. When lifted and weighed the bag scaled 135 pounds. It was dried for four days and yielded 120 pounds of perfectly dry flour, the big and waste weighing 28 pounds. Baked into bread, it gave perfect results.

EAT LESS AND TAKE SALTS FOR KIDNEYS

Take a Glass of Salt in Your Back Hurts or Bladder Bothers.

The American men and women must guard constantly against kidney trouble because we eat too much and all our food is rich. Our blood is filled with uric acid which the kidneys strive to filter out. They weaken from overwork, become sluggish, the eliminative tissues clog and the result is kidney trouble, bladder weakness and a general feeling of ill health.

When your kidneys feel like lumps of lead, your back hurts or the urine is cloudy full of sediment or you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night, if you suffer with sick headache or dizzy sensations, spells of acid stomach or you have rheumatism when the weather is bad, get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts, take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast, for a few days, and your kidneys will then be fine. The famous salts are made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice combined with lithia and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate clogged kidneys to neutralize the acids in the urine. It is no longer a source of irritation thus ending bladder disorders. Jad Salt is inexpensive, cannot injure, makes a delightful effervescent lithia water beverage and belongs in every home because nobody can make a mistake by having a good kidney flushing in time—Ad.

Husky is the name by which English settlers along the Labrador coast long knew the Eskimos who live there or spend the greater part of the year there fishing and catching seal. The name has been transferred from man to the dog and today it is the common name for the wolflike dog of both the white and the red men of the far Northland.

ZONING SYSTEM AFFECTED LARGE ECONOMIES SAYS FUEL ADMINISTRATION

More Than 160,000,000 Car Miles Saved and More Than 300,000 Additional Trips Made to Mines

As stated earlier in the fuel year that a proximately 160,000,000 car miles would be saved in the coal year through the operation of the zoning system for the distribution of bituminous coal are being fully realized, says a statement issued by the Fuel Administration.

This system, as its statement made possible through the close cooperation of the United States Fuel Administration with the Fuel Administration has had a large share in bringing the nation's supply of bituminous coal to its present position, one which with patriotic economy will be sufficient for the winter requirements.

This method of distribution was established so that the coal supply of all sections of the country should not be derived from mines relatively near to the transportation centers and insuring a more equal distribution of coal to the mine and the ready employment of mine labor.

Early estimates were that the movement of bituminous coal affected by the zoning system would involve about 70,000,000 tons, or 60 per cent of the total production. The latest figures show that 76,540,000 tons of this kind of coal have been produced and delivered since April 1, 1918, per cent of which is affected by the zoning system.

These latest figures show that even more than the originally estimated 160,000,000 car miles will be saved in round trips to and from the mines and that conserved by more than the 300,000 additional trips which the saving in car miles would affect will be made. Exact figures have not been compiled but the early estimate is lowered for the 70,000,000 additional trips because of a 10 per cent increase in the production.

Grazing experts of the U. S. service estimate that the cost of producing lamb in the United States is $1.82 per head.

Sugar Shortage

By BERTHA CURRIE PORTER

(Copyright, 1918 by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate)

"I don't see what you said we'd give them tea for when you know we haven't any sugar!"

"What difference does that make? Some of our best families do not have sugar nowadays."

"Well, I'll bet the Clarkson girls are rolling in sugar!"

"If they are all we need to do is to shake them over the cups and there you are!"

"You needn't joke about it, Anne. I have some pride if you haven't and I'm not going to have those rich Clarkson girls coming here and thinking we're not as well able to have things as they are even if they do carry fifteen dollar kitting bags all covered over with plush cushion fruit and tassels."

"I don't know how you're going to get it. I've telephoned to every store I can think of and they all say the same thing—no sugar!"

"Telephoning and asking face to face are two different things. I'll run out and see what I can do."

"Josephine Bruce, not in this bad weather!"

But Josephine had vanished into the doorway of the little flat.

It was the worst day of that "never remembered" winter. There had been a heavy snow fall a day and then a "lean freeze" with the black for a few hours. And in the night the weather had moderated and it rained. It was still raining when this morning it was still raining with a heavy wind. I was sitting in a sensible folk's creeps over their rubbers and after people lost their pride in the good old "Publican."

Josephine appeared and it was a very becoming brown coat and little hat. She wore brown boots and riding boots for rubbers and carried a brown umbrella.

She and Anne stood at her to see what she was doing. She was looking down at her folded umbrella and then she began to chop at it. The rain was still falling. The rain was still falling.

In the nearest store Anne marched bravely up to the counter.

"Two pounds of sugar please," she said. "With the sweetest smile."

"No sugar in the store," growled the hunched clerk for the one hundred and thirty-seventh time that day.

"There's no sugar in the store," the next grocer told her. "And more than that, there's no sugar up to my own hips. And I'm in the grocery business. What's your mind?"

And I'm in the grocery business. What's your mind? I'm in the grocery business. What's your mind? I'm in the grocery business. What's your mind?

hours of walking I had not located it and was completely lost in the wilds of France. About 6 o'clock I located a machine gun battalion in a woods and I went to the officer in charge and told him I was lost. He said I could stay there for the night and gave me my supper and breakfast but there was no place to sleep so I had to sleep out in a cold rain without any cover except the slicker which I wore. Well,

Ralph Sliger.

I did not sleep very much that night. You can bet, and Jerry was sending over some big shells near us at that. "Well, after breakfast next day I started out and with the help of some very nice military police officers I found my comrades at dinner time that day and reported that I been lost and everything was all right. That night we established a chain of runners from regimental headquarters to battalion headquarters and I was on the chain. I got along well until after dark when I delivered a message. On my return to my post I got lost out among the trenches. After wandering around for almost 15 minutes and getting more bewildered every minute I finally ran into a trench with some American reserves. I was completely turned around, and the men in the trenches did not know where our headquarters were so instead of wandering around all night I just stayed right there in that trench with no covers but my slicker and froze until morning.

"As soon as daylight came I saw where I was and got back to my post again. There were no more messages to be delivered that night and I was not missed, and everything was all right.

"We moved that night farther up the line and located new headquarters closer to the German line and that night another runner and I were sent out to locate a machine gun battalion and bring it up. After much trouble we did. That was three nights I had no sleep. You may know I was sleepy."

"I was sent out the next morning to another division in exchange for a runner from that division and at 10 o'clock that morning not having any messages to deliver I lay down on a hard board floor with a blanket over me which I borrowed (just jacked up) I went to sleep and did not awaken until the next morning. Come along, believe me, and I decided it. They were calling me to take a message that night but I guess they could not get me awake. I did not know where I was sleeping but when I did get awake there were five men sleeping in a space large enough for about three and others were walking all over me. So you see, I was sleeping.

"Just before dinner I was sent back to my own headquarters because the outfit where I was staying was moving. That night I was put on a chain post and we were on for 24 hours. We had to deliver our messages all night and all day through a town and other places which were continuously under shell fire. At one time a barrage was put up by the Germans on the town and a message came to our post and it was the other fellow's turn to deliver it but he lost his nerve and would not take it. I gave him a bawling out and delivered that message and another through that awful shellfire and never got a scratch. A regimental runner has a dangerous job, but it is a very important one.

"One night, or morning rather, Jerry sent over mustard gas for three hours and for three hours we had to wear our gas masks. After the 'all clear' sign was given I again went on my post. In going through a low part of the town I got a little gas, but not enough to hurt me. The next afternoon we moved our headquarters farther up the line again, having pushed Jerry back again. We were pretty close to Jerry's front line and were shelled a good bit and gas was sent over again but we got our masks on in time and were all right.

"Our company was relieved a couple of days before this but I was not relieved until this night and I was reported by my company as among the missing. When I was relieved and went back to my company after our division was released they were glad to see me. Several of our company were killed and many wounded, but our company or regiment gained its objective.

"I think the war will be over soon now but of course I cannot tell for sure. Our company is out of the lines for a much needed rest just now but
